THE RAYMOND LION

Last Friday afternoon the delegation from the Raymond Lions Club left for the big midwinter Cabinet Meeting in the Rainbow Hotel at Great Falls. The President, Rayo Woolf; the Secretary, L. L. Harker; and a new member, Cliff Nalder, made up the Club representatives; all of whom took their wives along for a bit of shopping and the big party Saturday night.

The first business meeting began at ten o'clock on Saturday morning and after a brief luncheon the business discussions continued at two. Adjournment did not come until five-thirty. As District 37 covers Montana and Alberta, four Governors and two score assistants are needed to carry on the official business of this large territory. The midwinter Cabinet Meeting is the only time that all of these Lions get together to discuss policies and plans for the year. The four Governors have several and each Governor meets with his helpers earlier in the Fall. The main plans and policies are laid at this big meeting. All Club presidents and secretaries are invited to sit in on the discussions.

One of the big features every year is planning the District Convention. The international Convention this year is to be held in Atlantic City and for reasons uncontrolled it must be held in June. That alters the local proceedings for our own District Convention. The Constitution states that the District Convention must be held at least thirty days prior to the international Convention. The Convention for District 37 will be held in Calgary on May 16, 17, 18 and 19; with headquarters at the Palliser Hotel. The local club elections must be held a month earlier to permit the new officers elected to go to the Convention.

The Great Falls Lions Club entertained the visitors at a big banquet and program on Saturday night. Two hundred and fifty guests filled the big Rainbow Room to the doors. The boys had a really lively time and everybody enjoyed the evening. Governor Heber Merrill of Lethbridge and Governor for District 37 gave the address—and a most appropriate message was carried to every Lion.

The regular Meeting of the Raymond Lions was held on Monday, January 22. We split our dates this month to hold our Charter Night Celebration. The regular meetings are held on the first and third Mondays of each month, but in January we held meetings on the second and fourth Mondays. That way we skipped New Year's Day and gave us a week in between to hold the Charter Night. The next one of our regular schedule will be on February 5th.

This is the month that the Lions all over the world honor our founder and leader, Melvin Jones. We made special arrangements for receiving our new members with Charley Matkin, Past District Governor and International Councillor visiting us to give the new Lions special advice and information concerning their privileges and responsibilities as Members of the largest Service Club in the world. He then inducted the following new members: Cliff Nalder, Jack Jones, Mike Rebalak and Mas Tarnabeda. Loron Larsen, Dee Rolfsen and Bill Greep were also recently inducted.

A Meeting of the Ladies Curling Club was held last Wednesday, at which time the possibility of a Ladies' Bonspiel and a Ladies' and Men's Bonspiel, was discussed.

There are only four of the twenty-six members of Alberta's first Legislature in 1906, still living.

Mrs. Sarah Dahl Buried In Cardston

A large number of friends from here attended the funeral services for the late Mrs. Sarah Dahl that were conducted in the Stake Tabernacle in Cardston on Saturday, January 20th.

Bishop F. Wood conducted the service with Miss Verla Blackmore at the organ. The invocation was offered by an old time friend of the family, C. W. Burt and the quartet, Richard and Robert Low, Gordon Olsen and Wm. Bennett sang "Abide With Me". President Gordon Brewerton was the first speaker, followed by a violin solo by Mrs. Max Payne. Mrs. J. H. Walker's remarks were followed by a vocal solo by Miss Elleen Swan who sang one of the favorite songs of Mrs. Dahl "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose".

President E. J. Wood told of Mrs. Dahl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carter, being pioneers in the Salt Lake Valley with Mr. Carter plowing the first plot of ground where now stands the great city of Salt Lake. The quartet sang "Prayer is the Soul's Sincere Desire" and the closing prayer was offered by Heber Harker.

Interment was in the Cardston Cemetery with Bishop Rulon Dahl dedicating the grave.

Pallbearers included Lloyd and Carl Dahl.

Mrs. Dahl's life was one of extreme kindness to her fellow-men with her motto being "I'll go where I'm needed most".

A large crowd of friends attended from all over Southern Alberta and the many flowers told of the high esteem held for the wonderful person that was Mrs. Dahl. She will be sorely missed by her many friends and particularly her fellow Temple workers.

Velma Vance has returned from Cardston where she has been attending school.

Local Men Expand

Dan Halliday and Henry Piegras are expanding—not in girth but in business. They have purchased the Quality Meat Market in Cardston from Wayne Malmberg and Henry leaves the first of next month to take over active management. As soon as living accommodations are found he expects to have his family join him.

Darrell Piegras will take over the management of the Central Meat Market here and expresses his desire to carry on the family tradition of efficient and courteous service.

Card of Thanks

The Joseph Petrak family wish to express their sincere appreciation to everyone who assisted in any way during their recent bereavement.

Mrs. Gerald Watson and Mrs. Leonard Watson have their mother, Mrs. Oliver McLean and their sister-in-law Mrs. Logan McLean both of Medicine Hat, visiting them a few days this week. Following their stay in Raymond, they plan to attend the Temple in Cardston a few days.

Just Penning Thanks (Margaret Huszar)

It's set in. Everybody has it or is getting it and I don't mean the mumps. I mean "Spring Fever". "In January?" the skeptics will say. Yes, in January. Everyone feels like loafing around, gazing out of the windows with that look in their eyes, and wishing something exciting would happen. It does. The bell rings. Many questions are left unanswered. The teachers think we are ignoring them. We aren't, it's just that it is so hard to concentrate with a Chinook blowing "Spring" outside. It'll be here before we know it, kids, and we will then wish for Christmas, but quick.

To alleviate the unrest in school, the Grade 12 put on a Literary last Friday. (Remember Friday??? Ha!) The girls gave us the lowdown on the latest events in their "Mirror-Room Review". Joanne Brandy brought us up to date (1960) on local happenings. Some surprising things are bound to happen!! (according to Joanne) Then Jimmy Heninger, a former inmate, gave a travelogue about his trip around the world (well practically). It was extremely interesting.

Did you know that many of the RHS students are entering the service of their country? John Hudson, Walter Milner, Carl Winkler, James Tonaka, to mention some, are joining the armed Forces, although we hear Carl was rejected. We are sorry for you Carl, but glad for your mother. Just think, ten years from now we may say, as a famous general speaks, "Why, I knew him in school!"

0 Good luck fellows!
2 Friday, January 19th, there was a dance in the Hungarian Hall with the 15 Coalvale Band in attendance. Lunch was served and an enjoyable time was had by everyone present. Another one is scheduled for February 2nd.

Last week a member of the FBI from Montana and a member of the RCMP interviewed Mrs. Ray Johnson who has taught at a Hutterite Colony, and Shirley concerning the life and habits of the Hutterites. They were chiefly interested in getting proof that these people are conscientious objectors.

First Aid Classes To Be Organized

A meeting will be held in the Town Hall on Monday, January 29 at 7:30 p.m. to outline the annual St. John's First Aid course and enroll all men and boys who desire to attend the lectures and demonstrations which will be supervised by John Housley. The course will be of six weeks duration with two lectures a week. This is the same First Aid Course Boy Scouts must pass before they can become King Scouts, and will also be the recommended First Aid for the Civil Defence organization when it is completed. A large turn out will be appreciated.

Weddings

Greendale-Thomsen

The wedding of Miss Ingeborg Thomsen, nurse at the Municipal Hospital and Gunner Greendale was solemnized in Lethbridge on Wednesday, January 17. The happy couple have taken up residence in the Roy Shields home and their many friends wish them a long and happy married life.

Romeril-Paxman

Wednesday, January 24th. In the Alberta Temple, Bonnie Paxman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Paxman, became the bride of Charles Romeril, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Romeril. President Heber Matkin officiated at the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

Following the Wedding, an evening Reception was held in the beautifully decorated Stake House, with approximately 175 guests present to wish the bride and groom much happiness. Decorations were under the capable direction of Mrs. George Erickson. While the guests were arriving, Herb Bishop softly played beautiful selections on the piano.

The radiant bride was gown in traditional white satin featuring pearl beaded neckline, lily point sleeves and a lovely full skirt. A rhinestone necklace complimented the gown and a dainty floor length veil cascaded from a seed pearl coronet. Beautiful white lilies surrounded by pink roses made up the bride's bouquet.

Virginia Paxman, gown in blue frosted nylon, attended her sister as maid of honor, and Della, Carma and Kate Paxman and Louise Romeril, all gown in pink, were bridesmaids. Each attendant carried a nosegay of pink carnations. The mothers of the bride and groom chose black crepe afternoon frocks for the occasion, and wore corsages of pink carnations.

Bill Kinsey attended the groom as best man and John Heggie, Reid Zemp and Reid Fawns were ushers.

The many lovely and varied gifts were received and arranged by June Anderson, Beth Follis, Edna Mae Kinsey and Jean Cooper, and Elizabeth Olsen, the Groom's sister, and Joyce Phillips were in charge of the Guest Book. The delicious lunch prepared by Mesdames Tychoon, Redge Cooper, Marion Tollestrup, and Jesse Attwood was served by Norma and Marie Dahl. Donna and Dena Palmer, Rhea Paxman and Nola Attwood, all of whom wore lovely floor length gowns. The bride's table was centered with a beautiful three tiered wedding cake (continued on page three)

Basketball News

In an overtime spine-tingler at Magrath on Saturday night the Jacks lost to the Rockets by a single basket. The score was tied at the end of regular playing time and in the extra stanza the Rockets outpointed the Jacks 6 to 4. This evens the score for the two "bitter" rivals in games so far with two apiece. Magrath is now top-dog in the league and so the Jacks meet the Green Acres in the play-off with the winner of that series taking on the Magrath powerhouse.

On Wednesday night in the Opera House the RHS Comets came out on the big end of a 45 to 26 victory over the Cardston Second Ward M-Men in the preliminary event. "A" team got off to a poor start, missing setups, rebounds and passes. Although their checking was poor they were only four points behind at half time.

In the second quarter the boys began to move the ball around and finally, in the last quarter, overtook and passed the M-Men to win the game. High honors for the night's scoring went to G. Gregson who racked up 14 points. Flexhaug led the Raymond pack with 10 counters.

The main attraction for the night was the exhibition game between the Union Jacks and the Lethbridge Green Acres. The Acres led the game from the opening whistle, and never once looked back. They worked the ball beautifully and had racked up 41 points to Raymond's 24 points at half time.

After the breather, the Jacks came alive and began to narrow the gap. Both Clubs fought hard and many fouls were called. The Jacks narrowed the margin to 6 points at one time but couldn't quite make the grade.

Marcus led the point parade with 24 points. Close behind him was Lilja who scored 21 points.

Art Zeihn and Al West carried the punch for Raymond, scoring 16 and 15 points respectively. The final score read Acres 71, Jacks 64.

Raymond - Nalder 4; Rol'son; Attwood; A. West 15; L. West 5; Mitchell 8; Hicken 4; Stevens 12; Zeihn 16. Total 64.

Lethbridge - Marcus 24; Lilja 21; Fernandez 9; Proctor 5; Hanson 5; Greenway 7. Total 71.

The Jacks vindicated themselves for the loss by returning to Lethbridge on Thursday night and trimming the Acres, 69 to 64, in their own backyard.

Capitol Theatre News

Technicolor Week

Never has a picture received such acclaim as 20th Century Fox's human interest production of that popular novel "Cheaper By The Dozen". It has a marvelous cast headed by Clifton Webb and Myrna Loy. All Theatre's big and small have enjoyed presenting this down to earth comedy drama. Now you can arrange to see this as the Capitol dates have now been set for Friday and Saturday February 2nd and 3rd. This has achieved so much popularity that the management will have two shows both nights; the first show starting at 7 P. M. Remember the dates and make up a Theatre Party. Its a show full of enjoyment for the whole family.

Rod Cameron, the screen's most virile star, now comes to the screen in his newest role in "The Stage to Tuscon". It is in brilliant technicolor and the Capitol is showing the Western Canadian Premier of this thrilling outdoor drama on Wednesday and Thursday January 31st and February 1st.

And we want to tell of the attraction at the Capitol on Monday and Tuesday of next week. It stars Dennis Morgan, Doris Day and Jack Carson. Its another brilliant technicolor musical "It's A Great Feeling".

Most of the members of the study class we attend gathered at our home Sunday night to hear the lesson very capably presented by Mrs. Gordon Anderson. Discussions and a delicious (even if we say so) lunch followed.

Good Seed For Better Crops

Make sure of your seed supplies by ordering now, advises J. E. Birdsall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Pure seed is needed to produce high quality grain. Again this year the Alberta Crop Improvement Association is making registered and certified seed available through grain elevator agents, District Agriculturists and the Alberta Seed Growers' Co-operative.

Registered seed is the purest and best seed available. It is marketed in sealed sacks after having been carefully inspected in the field, cleaned to a high standard, and inspected again as cleaned seed. The tag of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association on each sack indicates to the purchaser that he is buying seed that is pure as to variety and contains few impurities such as weed seeds and other kinds of grain. This seed will germinate strongly and if sown on suitable land will produce a uniform crop of relatively high yield.

For Parents Only

By Nancy Cleaver

A Child's Success and Failures

"Tommy is a terrible little slow poke. He dawdles and dawdles, and no matter how often I speak to him he just won't hurry."

"Helen doesn't seem able to play happily with the children in our neighborhood. She will not take turns or share her playthings with other little girls. I am so ashamed of her when she snatches her doll from her little chums."

"John just won't keep clean. I dress him in fresh clothes every morning and every afternoon after he sleeps, and still he seems to be dirty all the time."

Have you listened to remarks like these? They are often made by parents who expect perfect behaviour of their children—sometimes far beyond the child's ability at the stage he is in. These "perfectionist parents" are more apt to be mothers than fathers and they are very hard to live with (both for the child and the other parent) because they create a discontented, upset family atmosphere. They would likely be surprised if they were told that it is a mistake for a parent to set up a standard of perfection for a child.

Children go through various stages of development. Habits of thumb sucking or dawdling are outgrown in time by most children. It takes time and patience for a little child to learn how to get along with other children, and share possessions happily. An active child is not naturally concerned about cleanliness, and a mother who expects her son to keep his hands and clothes clean while he plays, is doomed to disappointment.

Sometimes a child does not experience success in simple endeavors because his mother is too eager to help him, too impatient to let him do things slowly and often imperfectly himself. The son or daughter of the too dominant or too efficient mother finds it hard to learn by trying one thing at a time, over and over again until mastery is gained.

A child needs encouragement in order to succeed in the formation of habits which are possible and desirable for him at his age. Praise is a great stimulus for successful effort. If provision is made for the basic needs of a child, he is likely to be successful in learning new ideas and skills and in developing a happy relationship with his playmates and older people.

Failure is part of life, as well as success for a child as well as for an adult, and both young and old can learn from their mistakes if they are willing to do so. A child who accepts the fact that he cannot always be the winner in the game, that he will not always come first in his class, that he will not always succeed in what he attempts will not be crushed by disappointments and failures in later life. A good parent can help his boy who has attempted to build an airplane model which is of too intricate a design, by showing him where he made his mistakes, suggesting that he try a simpler plan and giving him sufficient direction to succeed in his second attempt. A good parent does not expect perfection in his child's behavior and helps his child learn from his mistakes.

To help meet the problems of today's high cost of living, a bright little book, published by the Bank of Montreal, has made its appearance. It tells a story of budget-planning—how to make the most of income while cutting down financial worries. The booklet, "Personal Planning for Successful Homemakers" available at all B of M branches simply for the asking, has been tested before being put into general circulation.

Tried out on a limited basis at the B of M booth in last year's Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the Personal Planning idea drew enquiries from a host of visitors. Correspondence since received at the bank's head office indicates that it is helping a good many people to solve their financial problems.

That people find Personal Planning a stimulating experience appears clearly in almost all correspondence which the bank has received on the subject. "This is the most important and exciting event of the whole CNE," one typical comment ran. "I needed this advice very badly, and you have already helped to straighten out a quarter of our personal problems."

Another said, simply: "Every bride should have a copy of this book." Living conditions; "great prospects Other characteristic remarks were: "up-to-date and practical for present and ideas for low-income bracket families"; "this information came when most needed."

What's new about Personal Planning, as compared with every day budgeting?

Budgeting Plays Secondary Role in Personal Planning

The difference, B of M officials say lies in scope and emphasis. Personal Planning goes much farther than budgeting. Where the latter is often restricted in scope to suggestions for better family bookkeeping, Personal, as its name implies, puts the person before the plan. It takes account of human nature first and record keeping second. This broad approach not only takes the boredom out of budgeting, but makes for success on a realistic basis.

In line with its human approach, Personal Planning does not urge "standard" budgets upon people. On the contrary, the B of M, which has been dealing with the financial problems of Canadians of every occupation for over 130 years, believes that few individuals benefit from trying to fit their special needs into a set of statistical averages. Frustration and loss of interest in budgeting are likely to result, the bankers say.

In contrast, Personal Planning takes the attitude that the budget is made for the individual, not vice versa. Thus, it takes into account not only rent, food, insurance and the like, but the Planner's aims and also his need to enjoy today.

Realism of Personal Planning Makes For Extra Will-Power

Model budgets are used only as examples in Personal Planning literature. It is emphasized that, in detail, these hold good exclusively for the particular people they were designed for, not the reader. The model budget plans come in handy only as practical illustrations of the broad principles of money management.

Personal Planning still requires plenty of determination on the part of the individual, B of M officials comment. But it helps him develop more will-power with relative ease. It gives him extra "go" by keeping before his eyes a budgetary goal that meets his own needs and aims, rather than one that may apply to his income group average, but not to him, personally.

Trains travel faster than you think!

It is commonly supposed that in collisions between trains and motor vehicles at railway crossings it is the train which strikes the motor car, reports to the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada covering the 12-month period ended June 30th. last, however reveal that of the 443 accidents occurring in that period, nearly a quarter of them resulted from the motor vehicle—ranging from sleek sedans to modest farm trucks and even motorcycles—striking the side of the locomotive or train. Cases were reported in which the motor vehicle struck the train as far back as the cars behind the engine. One of the reasons for this apparent anomaly is the fact, well supported by scientific tests, that trains travel faster than the motorist, who can estimate within the few seconds allowed for him to determine whether or not he can safely make the crossing. It is safer to give the train the benefit of the doubt.

Lower Production Costs in 1951

It is a well-known fact that unit cost of production affects greatly the profit or loss in any farm operation. Western farmers increase the yield per acre and lower the unit cost of production of their grain crops.

Don't Produce Weed Seeds. A study of the records of grain shipments from the Prairie Provinces shows two important points. The first is that western farmers deliver about 3/4 of a million tons of weed seeds to country and terminal elevators each crop year. Obviously, this means a reduction in yield on the farm as well as an increase in the cost of handling and processing the prairie grain crop.

The second important point is that the farmers of Western Canada market from 200 to 800 cars of "muddy" grain each crop year. This represents an entirely needless, preventable loss of from $300.00 to $400.00 per car for the shipper of muddy grain.

Use Clean, Treated Seed. And what about the use of clean seed? Believe it or not, over 50% of the seed that goes into the ground each spring in Western Canada is uncleaned seed, a fact that has been established by the recent seed drill surveys of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. In many districts of Western Canada there will be a shortage of good seed for 1951. It is therefore more important than ever that farmers exercise the utmost care this spring in cleaning and treating their own seed stocks.

Efficient, timely cultivation, the use of 2,4-D for the control of susceptible weeds, and care in the operation of the combine or thresher to remove weed seeds from threshed grain are measures which will help to lower production costs, and hence increase farm income in 1951.

Plan on planting only cleaned and treated seed this spring. Don't forget that your local Line Elevator agent can help you to secure "good seed" of the recommended varieties of grain crops.

A farewell party in honor of Allene Thompson was held at the Joe Thompson home on Friday night. The B of M featured Personal Planning on a test basis at the Canadian National Exhibition last autumn. In two weeks, 27,000 people asked for a copy of the B of M's booklet on Personal Planning. Here are some of the comments these people have volunteered:

"A very workable budget. Your service is appreciated."

"... wish we had started the plan long ago."

"Thank you so much for showing us the way to make a budget work. Have tried for a year with no success, but now I think we can really live and save with Personal Planning."

"The best yet."

"... appreciate commonsense method of handling money."

"Swell idea."

... Personal Planning ... WHY?

Personal Planning is much more than just drawing up a budget. Budgets are often frustrating dog-collars. They usually tie you down and make life a very monotonous affair.

No, Personal Planning shows you how to live within your income and enjoy it. It's a complete financial program, cut from the pattern of your particular needs and problems.

Personal Planning won't help you make millions. But — given an honest chance — it will cure your "day-after-pay-day blues."

You'll learn how to make your budget work for you, instead of you working for it. And you'll also find that Personal Planning helps you realize your plans for tomorrow much sooner than you have dared to hope.

Grant Paxman was the jovial M. C. for the following program: A humorous reading all about the bride and groom by Mrs. Stevens, two solos, "O Promise Me" by Mrs. Norman Alfred and "Forever and Ever" by Anne Alfred, a Reading by Mrs. Wm. Hogen-son of Stirling, a solo by Della Paxman, "Serenade", followed by a duet by Eva Peritt and Howard Peterson of Stirling, after which "A Wedding Prayer" was sung by Della. Kelvin Johnson concluded the program by playing "Traumeru" on the piano. The evening was brought to a close with the bride and groom leading the attendants in a waltz around the room to "I Love You Truly". Mrs. Emma Dahl provided the music.

Mrs. Romeril chose for her going away ensemble a navy blue suit, topped by a rust coat, and navy accessories. A beautiful carnation corsage was pinned to her lapel. The happy couple motored to California for their honeymoon; planning to be gone about three weeks. On their return they will make their home on the Romeril Farm, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Fred Romeril plan to move to Cardston to make their home.

Out of town guests were from Cardston, Coultis, Lethbridge and Stirling.

Pat Mitchell spent a few days home from Calgary this week.

By way of the grapevine we have learned that the big hulk of bone and muscle who goes by the name of Les Robinson, has strict orders to lose weight — so don't ever offer him anything to eat.

The new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital in Calgary is a masterpiece in modern engineering and design. Built to care for Alberta's crippled children the hospital, when completely equipped, will have cost in the neighborhood of one and one-half million dollars, nearly all of which has been donated by the people of Alberta. The view above shows the ambulance entrance, the solarium on top of the the right-hand wing and the laundry at the extreme right. The sun rooms can be seen at the extreme left.

A dream in brick and concrete, tile and glass will come true March 3rd when the new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital in Calgary formally opens its doors to Alberta's crippled children.

For 12 years, ever since the present hospital was found to be too small, the men and women of Alberta have envisioned an adequate hospital for their crippled youngsters. The new red brick building standing on the highest hilltop in Calgary is the result of their work and courage, for they have given nearly one million dollars to its construction.

In modern style, and employing all the modern tricks of capturing the most air and sunlight, the new four floor hospital is shaped like an enormous "V" with wide-spread and welcoming arms.

It is built on land donated tax free by the City of Calgary, which has been home of the Red Cross work for crippled children since 1922. This spring the grounds will be landscaped and seeded, to give the children even more beautiful surroundings.

The new hospital will officially accommodate 119 patients, with room for 20 more in an emergency. Medical treatment is given for club foot, tubercular bone conditions, osteomyelitis, convalescence and deformities from infantile paralysis, congenital dislocation of the hip, malunited fractures and contractions following burns, sarcoma, coeliac disease, spinal curvatures, spastic haemiplegia and spina bifida.

Children from all parts over Alberta the Northwest Territories and Peace River Block, whose parents cannot afford prolonged orthopaedic care, are welcomed to the hospital. For those who do not need hospitalization, there is the Out-Patient's Clinic where parents are instructed in care for the child, and where needed braces and splints are fitted. More than 7000 children have been treated so far at the hospital.

Every angle has been considered in the inside equipping and decorating of the hospital. Pastel walls and acoustic tile ceilings take the place of the old-time "hospital white". The wards are furnished for the convenience and comfort of both patients and nurses. The school rooms are equipped for comfortable study; the handicraft rooms and the gymnasium are based on functional design.

From the modern kitchens on the ground floor to the sterile and completely equipped operating rooms on the second floor and the open solarium on the roof, the new Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's hospital is indeed a "dream" hospital.

Visitors who wish to tour the new structure are welcome at all times for it is Alberta's hospital with one object in mind, to make the "lame to walk" among Albert's children.
